

VOTING

Since Belgium is a parliamentary democracy, elections are held on a regular basis in order to designate several representative on all levels. EU or non-EU-citizens can participate in some elections in Belgium, be it as a voter or as a candidate under certain conditions. The right to vote is not attributed automatically though, it is limited to certain elections and you will always need to register to vote.